FACILITY DESCRIPTION

Blanchard Terminal Company, LLC is a bulk petroleum products storage and distribution terminal, located at 2101 Zoo Parkway, Jacksonville, Duval County, Florida 32218. Petroleum products (gasoline, diesel fuel, kerosene and jet fuel) and denatured ethanol are received from sea going vessels, railcar tankers and tanker trucks. These products are stored in the appropriate fixed or floating roof storage tanks. Gasoline, aviation gasoline, gasoline/denatured ethanol/butane blends, and/or gasoline/denatured ethanol blends or lower vapor pressure VOL products are then loaded into tanker trucks at one of the two tank truck loading rack systems. Volatile Organic Compounds (VOC) and Hazardous Air Pollutants (HAP) emissions from these loading operations are controlled by use of either a carbon adsorption/absorption vapor recovery unit (VRU) or a vapor combustion unit (VCU). Distillates, denatured ethanol, and/or lower vapor pressure petroleum products can be loaded into marine vessels and railcar tankers. Petroleum contact water (PCW) from storm water and spills at the truck loading rack and from water draws from the gasoline and distillate storage tanks is stored in PCW tanks until shipped offsite for disposal.
