Dear Mr. Bahtic,

In response to your email dated February 7, 2012. First, the burners on the dryers were designed not to have the capability of exceeding 90.0mmBtu /hr. There were some accuracy issues with the gas meters during the first part of the 2010 processing season. The dryer gas meters were changed out in December 2010. There were some gas meter discrepancies that I researched and corrected since the new meter installation that were due to operator timing error in meter readings. These calculations and spreadsheet were reviewed by Cutrale's engineers and Air Testing & Consulting (Ken Given). It was determined the units are in full compliance with the 90.0mmBtu/hr permitted rating. If you have any questions please contact Mr. Ken Given at 813-551-0878. I have attached a copy of the revised spreadsheet.

Thank you,

Edward Priest
