Just FYI

Yesterday we received the application for the Northwest Florida Renewable Energy Center. You may recall this is the biomass plant proposed for Pt. St. Joe. The applicant withdrew this application quite awhile ago after the draft permit was issued and petitions were filed. I believe it is for the same site but they have changed the project a little bit (e.g. different turbines). We told the press office so they are aware in case inquiries come in. We will keep you posted.
