Syed,

It was good to talk with you yesterday afternoon regarding Mosaic's Sept 30, 2008 RAI submission addressed to Scott Sheplak. As discussed, we will be responding to Scott's 10/31 and 11/3 emails to Jeff Steward relating to items 1.b.c and d and item 2.d within this week.

I am also confirming your affirmation regarding Mosaic's response # 6 relating to PSD during our telephone conversation of yesterday when you agreed that the production data provided for SAPs #s 7, 8 and 9 demonstrate that the three SAPs are currently capable of achieving their maximum permitted production rate, and therefore any difference in annual emissions resulting from fluctuations in demand and other factors would not be caused by the proposed changes and will not entail PSD triggering. As I understand, you have indeed discussed this aspect with Scott and your office is thus working on Mosaic's BART submission with the view to issue an air construction permit with no PSD elements. It is also my understanding that Scott's comments in his 10/31 and 11/3 emails relating to his statement that the Riverview SAP plants have not been able to operate at their capacities in the last 5 years is merely an observation on capacity utilization at these plants that has not been close to 100%. As discussed, Mosaic will provide you with possible explanations regarding this capacity utilization data for the Riverview and New Wales cases within this week.

As agreed to yesterday, if we do not get any email from you to the contrary, Mosaic will consider that you are in agreement with the foregoing.

Truly,
