Dear Mr. Hedrick:

Re: Extension/Modification of Permit AC64-191605, PSD-FL-167

This letter supplements the Department's January 12, 1993, response to Florida Power Corporation's December 21, 1992, letter regarding the DeBary permit extension/modification. Our letter of January 12 addressed specifically the issue of applying for an operation permit. The other question that needs to be clarified is FPC's interpretation that the permit is automatically extended until the modification is approved. F.A.C. Rule 17-4.080(3) addresses requests for extensions - not modifications of the technical conditions of the permit. To keep the permit in effect, the permittee must request that the permit be extended independently of any technical modification, which could require an indefinite period to resolve.

If you have further questions, please call John Reynolds or myself at (904) 488-1344.

Sincerely,

G. Preston Lewis, P.E.

Re: Specific Condition 28 - Debary Air Construction Permit - AC 64-191015

Specific Condition 28 requires that "at least 90 days prior to the construction permit expiration you will submit an application for an operation permit. The application shall include the form, fee, construction completion certificate and test reports." I am told that this is a standard air permit requirement.

Should the construction permit expiration date not allow you enough time to comply with this condition, send us a letter and the appropriate fee requesting another extension of the construction permit. Your request should extend the permit far enough out to avoid any further extensions.

Should ^{you} have any questions, call either Teresa Heron or myself at (904) 488-1344.

Sincerely,
