Thank you. The SO2 allowances in the table of the Draft Title V permit do match what is posted on this web site. The web site does have other allowance data.

David,

Not sure why the allowance allocations matter, since the program requires that the source simply holds enough allowances, as of the allowance transfer deadline, to cover its annual SO2 emissions.

Anyway, you can cite the regulations, 40 CFR section 73.10(b), and/or go to our data and maps website (<http://camddataandmaps.epa.gov/gdm/index.cfm?fuseaction=allowances.wizard>) and click on the prepackaged data sets folder, then select the ARP Initial Allowance Allocation data set.

Kenon-

We are in the process of updating our Title V permit for the Northside Generating Station. Is there a website that has the allocations listed that would match the tables in the cfr link below?

I have a follow up question on this comment. I restated the comment below.

40. Acid Rain Permit – On page 68, Condition A.2 should be revised to simply state that the sulfur dioxide allowances are allocated for the units by EPA and that information is available on the EPA website. The allowance allocations provided in this condition in the proposed permit are incorrect.

The allowances entered in the table are from the code of federal regulations (CFR) version dated July 1, 2007, accessed on 09/18/2008 via the CFR on the web site <http://www.access.gpo.gov>. The same allowances are posted on the e-CFR web site at <http://ecfr.gpoaccess.gov>.

Is there a web site where current allowances are posted?
